Especially for your Mitsubishi ASX:

The new A-Pillar Garmin 4,3" widescreen advanced navigation system.

Pitty, no standard navigation sytem was build in to your ASX, but you can't do without the indispensable convenience of it. So now what? Disturbing wires throughout your new Colt and an ugly suction cup on your windscreen?

No need, since Mitsubishi introduces its new A-Pillar Garmin 4,3" widescreen advanced navigation system

This 4.3" widescreen advanced navigation system, with lane assist is specially made for the current Mitsubishi ASX.

This new Mitsubishi ASX Portable System combines the advantages of an integrated navigation system and a portable navigation system:

- Because the navigation device can be placed in the A-Pillar, the navigation battery is loaded automatically, eliminating the need for separate disturbing cables to work with.

- The Mitsubishi ASX Portable System includes a Bluetooth® car kit making a hands-free phone call possible.

- The navigation device can always be removed from the A-Pillar, so you always can use the navigation device in a 2nd car.

This Mitsubishi ASX Portable System will be delivered with an additional universal backpack so that it can be used directly.

The Mitsubishi ASX Portable System is based on a Garmin nüvi.
